Many resources are available to support survivors of sexual harassment, sexual assault, stalking, and dating or relationship violence. Support is available to survivors no matter when or where the harm took place, even if it occurred when the survivor was not affiliated with UC Berkeley. Survivors do not need to formally report to campus or the police to receive confidential support. If you are unsure of where to start or have any questions about confidentiality and privilege, contact the PATH to Care Center.

OBTAINING A PROTECTIVE / RESTRAINING ORDER

Survivors have the option to request a protective/restraining order from local law enforcement at any time. These civil court orders protect survivors who have experienced or are in fear of physical violence, sexual assault, or stalking by another individual. The Family Violence Law Center can help with this process. The Office for the Prevention of Harassment and Discrimination (OPHD) can also issue mutual no-contact directives, effective on campus.

RESPONSIBLE EMPLOYEES

Any UC Berkeley employee is considered a Responsible Employee unless they are designated confidential. If a Responsible Employee, in their capacity as an employee, receives information about UC Berkeley students experiencing harm related to sexual violence or harassment, they must share what they know with the Office for the Prevention of Harassment and Discrimination (OPHD). Responsible Employees include Resident Assistants, GSIs, faculty, and coaches. Have questions? Contact OPHD at 510-643-7985.

MEDICAL SERVICES

Individuals may wish to seek medical care to treat injuries, get tested for exposure to sexually transmitted infections, or preserve forensic evidence. You can call the Care Line to speak with a confidential advocate, who can coordinate transportation to a healthcare facility and accompany you throughout the process to provide support.

Though otherwise confidential, medical staff are required to report to the police any physical evidence of a violent crime observed during a physical exam.

HEALTHCARE FACILITIES LOCAL TO CAMPUS

Highland Hospital

Full emergency care; approved site for forensic evidence collection after sexual assault or relationship violence. Evidence collection costs are covered for survivors of sexual and relationship violence.

24/7 510-437-4800 | highlandahs.org
1411 E 31st St, Oakland, CA 94602

University Health Services (UHS) / Tang Center Urgent Care

Offers medical care to students, from 8 AM to 5 PM, 7 days a week during the academic year (5 days a week during the summer), regardless of insurance status. Provides treatment for potential injuries and to prevent sexually transmitted infections and pregnancy. UHS is not an approved site to provide forensic evidence collection; however staff can coordinate that service with an approved hospital. Medical costs are covered for student survivors of sexual and relationship violence. For after-hours medical assistance, call UHS Advice Nurse at 510-643-7197.

EVIDENCE COLLECTION

Forensic evidence collection is a police process to collect and preserve possible evidence of a crime, and can only be done at approved sites in the county where the incident occurred. If a survivor of relationship violence or sexual assault is considering pursuing criminal charges, it is best if evidence collection occurs in the first 72 hrs, the earlier the better. For best evidence collection, if possible:

- Leave the area where the harm occurred undisturbed.
- Place each clothing item in a separate paper bag (no plastic).
- Resist urge to shower, bathe, wash hands, eat, drink or brush teeth.
